

MiWiFi AC2350 Mi AIoT Router Stored XSS Vulnerability.

The configuration interface of routers is usually available through a web interface. By definition, this requires a web server and some web technology which can be php, asp or other.

Accordingly, routers are also exposed to classic Web vulnerabilities as XSS or command injection vulnerabilities.

Back in April, we found and reported an XSS vulnerability that we found in one of Xiaomi's routers.